SECOND AMENDED COMPLAINT

SUMMARY OF THE CASE

1. Defendants Berkshire Hathaway Homestate Companies (“Berkshire Hathaway” or “BHHC”), Cypress Insurance Company (Cypress”) and Zenith Insurance Company (“Zenith”) and the other named hacking defendants illegally accessed and downloaded privileged and confidential litigation files of thousands of individuals litigating cases against them. The hacking defendants stole these files from servers used by law firms representing the individual litigants. BHHC, Cypress and Zenith are major worker’s compensation insurance companies doing business in California and nationwide and many of the files were for workers compensation litigants.

1 2. The defendants acted in complete disregard of constitutional and 2 statutory law and applicable ethical and moral standards. Their corrupt conduct
3 evidenced a total disregard for fair play and disregard for the integrity of the judicial 4 system.

6 3. The hacking defendants are presently known to have hacked in excess of 7 32,000 litigation files.

9 4. Defendants' illegal hacking of privileged documents undermines the 10 integrity of the judicial system which damages all Americans. The American 11 system of justice depends upon fair play in an impartial forum. A fair and 12 impartial forum for rich and poor alike is central feature of the American way of 13 life and is important to our national reputation. This lawsuit is directed against 14 those powerful insurance companies and their co-conspirators who because of 15 their immense wealth and power acted as if they were above the law and in total
16 disdain of our cherished concept of fair play in an impartial forum. The hacking 17 defendants each conspired with one another, and aided and abetted one another, to 18 break the laws set forth in this Complaint regarding computer security, 19 confidential information and privacy.

21 5. Plaintiff is a client of the law firm of Reyes & Barsoum LLP who was 22 pursuing a worker's compensation lawsuit on his behalf. He brings this 23 proposed nationwide class action lawsuit on behalf of both Reyes & Barsoum clients 24 and other similarly situated clients whose privileged litigation files, with personal information, have been compromised as a result of the intentional data breach by defendants. Plaintiff seeks compensatory, statutory and punitive damages, as well as injunctive relief requiring defendants to refrain from all illegal computer intrusions.

PARTIES

6. Plaintiff Hector Casillas is a resident of Los Angeles County, California.

7. Defendant Berkshire Hathaway is a Nebraska corporation with its principal place of business in Omaha, Nebraska.

8. Defendant Cypress Insurance Company (“Cypress”) is a California corporation and a wholly-owned subsidiary of Berkshire Hathaway Homestate Companies. Its principal place of business is San Francisco, California.

9. Defendant Zenith Insurance Company (“Zenith”) is a California corporation with its principal place of business in Woodland Hills, California.

10. Defendant Broadspire Services, Inc. (“Broadspire”) is a Delaware Corporation with its principal place of business in Atlanta, Georgia.

11. Defendant William Reynolds (“Reynolds”) is an investigator who at one time was employed by Defendant Berkshire Hathaway and continues to hold himself out as an employee and/or agent of Berkshire Hathaway. He is a resident of the State of California.

12. Defendant Oliver Glover (“Glover”) is an employee of Zenith Insurance Company and is a resident of the State of California.

1 13. Defendants Berkshire Hathaway, Cypress, Zenith, Broadspire,
2 Reynolds, and Glover are collectively referred to as the “Hacking Defendants”.

4 14. Defendant HQSU Sign Services, Inc. is a California corporation with its 5 principal place of business located at 1609 East Palmdale Blvd. Suite D, 6 Palmdale, California 93550. HQSU’s president and registered agent for service of 7 process is Carlos Humberto Morales. At all times relevant to this Complaint, HQSU
8 maintained substantial and continuous contacts in the State of California and within 9 the Central District in particular, and the acts and omissions giving rise to the claims
10 against HQSU arise out of the acts and omissions occurring within the jurisdiction
11 and venue of this Court.
12

14 15. Plaintiff does not know the true names and capacities of defendants sued
15 herein as Does 1 to 10, inclusive, and therefore sues these defendants by such 16 fictitious names. Plaintiff will amend this complaint to allege their true names and 17 capacities when ascertained. However, on information and belief, Does 1 to 10
18 were/are the agents or employees or co-conspirators of each of the other
19 defendants and are/were at all times relevant acting within the purpose and scope 20 of such agency, employment, or conspiracy.
21

23
24 16. All of the defendants, named and unknown, are legally responsible 25 either directly or vicariously (under theories of agency, conspiracy, or aiding and 26 abetting) for all of the illegal constitutional, statutory, and tortious conduct alleged 27 in this Complaint.
28

1 JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2 17. Jurisdiction is proper in this court because this litigation arises under
3 federal law, including 18 U.S.C. §1030, et seq. (“Computer Fraud and Abuse
4 Act”), 18 U.S.C. §2701, et seq. (“Stored Communication Act”), and 18 U.S.C.
5 §§2510, et seq. (“Electronic Communications Privacy Act”). The Court has 6 jurisdiction over this action under 28 U.S.C. § 1331 (federal question). The court
7 also has jurisdiction over the state claims pursuant to its pendant and ancillary
8 jurisdiction power.

9 18. This Court has personal jurisdiction over defendants as they each are 10 registered to conduct business in California, have sufficient minimum contacts in 11 California, or otherwise intentionally avail themselves of the markets within 12 California, through the promotion, sale, marketing and distribution of their 13 products in California, to render the exercise of jurisdiction by this Court proper
14 and necessary. Defendants Cypress and Zenith are incorporated in California.

15 19. Venue is proper in this district pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1391(b) and 16 1391(c) because Plaintiff resides in this District, Defendants conduct substantial
17 business in this District, and a substantial part of the events giving rise to plaintiff’s
18 claims occurred in this District.

19 COMMON FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

20 Plaintiff’s Electronically-Stored, Privileged Litigation Files

of worker’s compensation insurance in the United States. Together they provide a significant percentage of the worker’s compensation insurance in California. These firms hired investigators who hacked into and stole stored confidential attorney-client files including files in which they were the insurer. Thousands of files have been pilfered and used by defendants in contravention of federal and state statutory law, case law, and standards of professional conduct.

21. The law firm of Reyes & Barsoum LLP specializes in worker’s compensation, normally representing injured workers. Reyes & Barsoum contracted with HQSU to provide administrative services for clients unable to come to the office due to physical, financial, or transportation limitations. HQSU maintained the servers on which personal client data was stored and on which the litigation files were stored.

22. HQSU is paid a pre-negotiated flat fee. HQSU represented to clients and agreed that it would keep clients’ – including Plaintiff’s – information secure and confidential.

23. In the case of Reyes & Barsoum clients, the accepting attorney informs the client that they will be contacted by HQSU for the purpose of signing a retainer agreement and filling out an In-Take Packet with personal information. HQSU then uploads the documents to its username and password-protected website. The information on this website is only available to Reyes & Barsoum

1 attorneys following verification of username and password. Reyes & Barsoum
2 may download existing documents, upload additional documents, and leave notes
3 and comments related to the cases in the files stored for it by HQSU. This practice is 4 used by all the other attorneys using the HQSU services.

6 24. Unbeknownst to Reyes & Barsoum or Plaintiff, and contradicting
7 HQSU's assurances to the contrary, HQSU failed to provide adequate or responsible 8 protections against unlawful access to the confidential and privileged it stored.
9 Moreover, following the other Defendants' unlawful accessing and converting the 10 data, as alleged below, HQSU failed to report the hacking activity to Plaintiff,
11 Reyes & Barsoum, other law firms using its services or the approximately 33 000
12 class members which information was taken. In addition HQSU failed to inform law
13 enforcement or appropriate government oversight agencies.
14
15
16

17 The Discovery of the Hacking Defendants' Unlawful Computer Hacking

18 25. The Hacking Defendants' hacking of the HQSU files was first 19 suspected during an in-chambers hearing in a worker's compensation case before
20 Presiding Judge Paige Levy. The hearing involved defense motions to compel
21 further testimony of Applicant Hector Casillas and an HQSU employee, Chantelle
22 Obregon, on April 20, 2014 in the matter of Hector Casillas vs. Xeres Corp;
23 Broadspire Claims Services, WCAB NO. ADJ903073. The case was being defended
24 by Knox Ricksen.

they had Mr. Casillas’ attorney-privileged In-Take Packet which bore the name “ATTORNEY: Rony M. Barsoum, Esq.” at the top of the document’s first page as well as the Reyes & Barsoum Retainer Agreement signed by Mr. Casillas.

27. Judge Levy immediately asked Knox Ricksen’s attorney how he came into possession of Mr. Casillas’ In-Take packet. The attorney first responded that it was obtained from the HQSU “website”. The attorney then changed his story and told Judge Levy that Ms. Obregon, HQSU’s representative, had provided it to defendant. Finally, the attorney told Judge Levy that he “did not know” where the privileged documents came from.

28. Judge Levy conducted an in-camera review of the documents and determined that they were protected by the attorney-client privilege. Judge Levy ordered Knox Ricksen to turn over the document to Reyes & Barsoum and instructed Knox Ricksen’s attorneys that they were ethically required to conduct a diligent search and notify Reyes & Barsoum if there were additional copies of the document and, if so, to turn them over to Reyes & Barsoum.

29. At no time during the session with Judge Levy did the attorneys for Knox Ricksen inform Judge Levy or Reyes & Barsoum that Knox Ricksen was in possession of tens of thousands of files of other attorney-client files.

30. No additional files were returned to Reyes & Barsoum, as ordered by Judge Levy.

2 save huge sums in judgments or settlements. Defendant Broadspire was Plaintiff's
3 workers compensation insurer and had possession of his intake packet.

4 35. In a Declaration provided by Reynolds in Casillas v. Xerxes Corp., et
5 al., California Workers Compensation Appeals Board Case No. AD 19030735,
6 Reynolds admits that he is a private investigator, and that he and Glover
7 participated in downloading from HQ Sign Up “approximately 32,500 intake 8 sheets”.

10
11 36. Defendant Glover likewise admitted in a sworn deposition in Reyes & 12 Barsoum, LLP v. Knox Ricksen, LLP, et al., Case No. BC 572975 (Superior Court of 13 California, County of Los Angeles), that he had accessed HQSU's server and 14 downloaded over 32,000 workers' compensation files. In that deposition testimony, 15 Glover testified that he first became aware of HQSU in October of 2012, and that he 16 was unable to access the server at that time.

19 37. Glover went on to testify that Defendant Zenith's counsel was aware of 20 and approved his continued attempts to access the site. With the assistance of 21 Zenith's information technology department, Glover was able to unlawfully access 22 and download files some 500 times in 2012 and 2013 and 2014.

24 38. The unlawful accessing and downloading of Plaintiff's and others' files 25 even took place prior to any litigation being filed, and was entirely independent of 26 any litigation or other protected activity.
27

1 39. On information and belief, all defendants have conspired with one
2 another, and aided and abetted one another, to hack the litigation files of Plaintiff and 3 those of the proposed class members. The cyberattacks were planned and executed 4 by all defendants and the wrongfully obtained privileged information was 5 compromised by each of them to the detriment of plaintiff and the proposed class
6 members.

9 40. On November 24, 2014, in a second hearing regarding Mr. Casillas,
10 attorney Danowitz again admitted to downloading and possessing over 33,000
11 attorney files and documents, including those of plaintiff and the proposed class
12 members. Moreover, attorney Danowitz now admitted to being in possession of a 13 thumb drive containing the 33,000 files.

16 41. During this second meeting on November 24, 2014, Danowitz showed 17 a video he recorded demonstrating defendant Reynolds illegally downloading the 18 privileged documents from the HQSU website.
19

20 42. The video clearly displays the illegal cyberattack, which Plaintiff's 21 experts have identified as a directory traversal attack. Directory traversal is an 22 HTTP exploit which allows attackers to access restricted directories and execute 23 commands outside of the web server's root directory.
24

25 43. Danowitz admitted that this conduct was intentional and not inadvertent
26 or accidental.
27

28 44. Defendants each conspired with one another, and aided and abetted one

2 another, to unlawfully obtain, publish and use the illegally obtain confidential files
3 of plaintiff and those similarly situated to obtain an advantage in litigation and to 4 diminish the financial exposure of the named defendant insurance companies.

6 45. The Hacking Defendants, and each of them, knew that they were 7 engaged in tortious and criminal conduct in furtherance of their conspiracy. Each
8 knew that members of the conspiracy were illegally obtaining confidential files
9 and holding them for use against adverse litigants.
10

11 46. Each of the hacking defendants, who are each co-conspirators, aided and 12 abetted the commission of the computer crimes enumerated in this Complaint as well
13 as the commission of intentional torts also enumerated in this Complaint. They each 14 provided substantial assistance or encouragement to the other co-conspirators to 15 commit theft of confidential files stored on a computer system and to then 16 distribute those files for their commercial advantage.

defined in 18 U.S.C. § 1030(e)(2), and contain private and confidential information which affects interstate commerce.

49. Federal law prohibits anyone from “intentionally accesses[ing] a computer without authorization or exceeds authorized access, and thereby obtains information contained in a financial record of a financial institution.” 18 U.S.C. § 1030(a)(2).

50. As alleged in detail above, the Hacking Defendants intentionally and without authorization accessed Plaintiff’s personal and confidential information on those protected computers and servers and obtained confidential information, in violation of 18 U.S.C. § 1030(a)(2)(C).

51. The Hacking Defendants’ unlawful conduct has caused Plaintiff to suffer substantial loss or damages in an amount to be proven at trial but which during a one-year period aggregates to at least $5,000, and Defendants’ conduct causes a threat to public safety. 18 U.S.C. §1030 (a)(5)(A), (B)(i) and (iv), (C).

52. The Hacking Defendants’ activity occurred within the last two (2) years from the initiation of this litigation and constitutes a violation of the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S. C. § 1030(g), and Plaintiff is entitled to damages and injunctive and equitable relief against Defendants under the Act.

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

(a) Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against the Hacking Defendants in

1 an amount sufficient to compensate Plaintiff for his actual damages;

2 (b) Afford Plaintiff a trial by jury;

4 (c) Enjoin the Hacking Defendants from accessing without authorization
5 HQSU's computers and Plaintiff's electronic information;

6 (d) Destroy or return to Plaintiff any unlawfully obtained information; and

8 (e) Such other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

9 COUNT TWO

10 (Violation of the Unlawful Access to Stored Communications Act, 18 U.S.C. § 11 2701, et seq.)

12 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

13 53. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
14 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 15 allegations.

17 54. The federal Stored Communications Act ("SCA") broadly defines an 18 "electronic communication" as "any transfer of signs, signals, writing, images,
19 sounds, data, or intelligence of any nature transmitted in whole or in part by a wire,
20 radio, electromagnetic, photoelectronic or photooptical system that affects interstate 21 or foreign commerce . . ." 18 U.S.C. § 2711(1); 18 U.S.C. § 2510(12).

24 55. Pursuant to the SCA, "electronic storage" means any "temporary storage
25 of a wire or electronic communication incidental to the electronic transmission
26 thereof." 18 U.S.C. § 2711(1); 18 U.S.C. § 2510(17)(A). This type of electronic 27 storage includes communications in intermediate electronic storage that have not yet
28

1 been delivered to their recipient.

2 56. Congress enacted the SCA to prevent “unauthorized persons deliberately
3 gaining access to, and sometimes tampering with, electronic or wire communications
4 that are not intended to be available to the public.” Senate Report No. 99-541, S.
5 REP. 99-541, 35, 1986 U.S.C.C.A.N. 3555, 3589.

8 57. As such, the SCA mandates, among other things, that it is unlawful for a 9 person to obtain access to stored communications on another’s computer system
10 without authorization. 18 U.S.C. § 2701(a).
11

12 58. The Hacking Defendants violated 18 U.S.C. § 2701(a)(1) by 13 intentionally accessing Plaintiff’s communications without authorization and 14 obtaining and/or altering authorized access to a wire or electronic communication 15 while in electronic storage, as alleged in detail above.
16

17 59. The Hacking Defendants violated 18 U.S.C. § 2701(a)(2) because they 18 intentionally exceeded authorization to access Plaintiffs’ communications and 19 obtained, altered, or prevented authorized access to a wire or electronic 20 communication while in electronic storage.

22 60. As a result of the Hacking Defendants’ conduct described herein, and its 23 violation of § 2701, Plaintiff has suffered substantial injuries and damage.
24

25 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

26 (a) Enjoin the Hacking Defendants’ conduct described herein;

27 (b) Award the maximum statutory and punitive damages available under 18
28

1 U.S.C. § 2707; and

2 (c) Such other and further relief that this Court deems just and proper.

4 COUNT THREE
5 (Violation of the Electronic Communications Privacy Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2510, et 6 seq.)

7 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

8 61. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
9 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 10 allegations.

12 62. The Electronic Communications Privacy Act, 18 U.S.C. § 2510 et seq.
13 (“ECPA”) defines “electronic communications system” as any wire, radio, 14 electromagnetic, photooptical or photoelectronic facilities for the transmission of 15 wire or electronic communication, and any computer facilities or related electronic 16 equipment for the electronic storage of such communications. 18 U.S.C. § 2510(14).

18 63. The ECPA broadly defines the “contents” of a communication, when 19 used with respect to any wire, oral, or electronic communications, to include any 20 information concerning the substance, purport, or meaning of that communication.
21 18 U.S.C. § 2510(8). “Contents,” when used with respect to any wire or oral 22 communication, includes any information concerning the identity of the parties to 23 such communication or the existence, substance, purport, or meaning of that 24 communication.
25
26
27

28 64. The Hacking Defendants violated 18 U.S.C. § 2511(1)(a) by

1 intentionally accessing, intercepting, and converting Plaintiff's wire and/or electronic 2 communications to, from, and within HQSU's computers and servers, as alleged in 3 detail above.

5 65. The Hacking Defendants also violated 18 U.S.C. § 2511(1)(d) by 6 intentionally using, and endeavoring to use the contents of Plaintiff's wire and/or 7 electronic communications to profit from their unauthorized and unlawful activities.

9 66. The Hacking Defendants intentionally obtained and/or intercepted, by 10 device or otherwise, these wire and/or electronic communications, without the 11 knowledge, consent or authorization of Plaintiff.
12

13 67. Plaintiff suffered harm as a result of the Hacking Defendants' violations
14 of the ECPA.
15

16 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

- 17 (a) Grant preliminary, equitable and declaratory relief as may be appropriate;
18 (b) Award the sum of the actual damages suffered and the profits obtained by 19 the Hacking Defendants as a result of their unlawful conduct, or statutory damages
20 as authorized by 18 U.S.C. § 2520(2)(B), whichever is greater; and 21
22 (c) Award punitive damages and reasonable costs and attorneys' fees.
23

24 COUNT FOUR
25 (Invasion of Privacy – Public Disclosure of Private Facts)
26 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

27 68. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
28

1 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the
2 allegations.

4 69. As alleged in detail above, the Hacking Defendants published or caused
5 to be published to the public private facts concerning Plaintiff, including personal 6 and medical information.

8 70. The published facts were not of legitimate public concern, and the 9 publication would be offensive and objectionable to a reasonable person and was 10 offensive and objectionable to Plaintiff.

11
12 71. The Hacking Defendants acted with reckless disregard for the fact that a 13 reasonable person would find the invasion highly offensive.

14 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

15 (a) Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff on the claim of invasion of privacy;

16 (b) Award such compensatory as may be proven at trial;

17 (c) Award punitive damages in an amount sufficient to punish and deter the 18 Hacking Defendants in the future; and

19 (d) Award such other and further relief as is just and appropriate.

21
22 COUNT FIVE

23 (Violation of the California Computer Data Access and Fraud Act, Cal. Penal 24 Code § 502, et seq.)

25 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

26 72. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
27 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 28

1 allegations.

2 73. Plaintiff is the owner and rights, title, and interest in certain data
3 contained in the computer systems and servers owned and operated by HQSU
4 pursuant to § 502(b)(3), § 502(b)(6) and § 502(2)(1).

6 74. Defendants have violated California's Computer Crime law, including
7 but not limited to § 502(c)(1)(B), by knowingly accessing and without permission
8 obtaining property or data.

10 75. Defendants have violated California's Computer Crime law, including 11 but not limited to § 502(c)(2), and (7) by knowingly accessing and without 12 permission making use of data from a computer, computer system, or computer 13 network.
14

15 76. Defendants have violated California's Computer Crime law, including 16 but not limited to § 502(c)(4), by knowingly accessing and without permission
17 obtaining property or data.
18

19 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:
20

21 (a) Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff on the claim of Violation of the 22 California Computer Data Access and Fraud Act, Cal. Penal Code § 502, et seq.
23 pursuant to § 502(e)(1)-(2);
24

25 (b) Award such compensatory as may be proven at trial;

26 (c) Enjoin any further violations of the California Computer Data Access
27 and Fraud Act;
28

1 (d) Award attorney’s fees;

2 (e) Order that Defendants forfeit all data owned by Plaintiff unlawfully
4 obtained by Defendants; and

5 (f) Award such other and further relief as is just and appropriate.

6 COUNT SIX
7 (Violation of California Business and Professions Code § 17200)
8 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

10 77. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
11 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 12 allegations.

14 78. This cause of action is brought pursuant to California Unfair
15 Competition Law at Business & Professions Code § 17200, et seq.

16
17 79. Defendants’ conduct constitutes unfair, unlawful and/or fraudulent
18 business practices within the meaning of Business & Professions Code § 17200.

19 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

20 (a) Pursuant to Business & Professions Code § 17203, Defendants, and each of 21 them, be ordered to make restitution and disgorge all earnings, profits,
22 compensation, benefits and other ill-gotten gains obtained by Defendants as a result
23 of Defendants’ conduct in violation of Business & Professions Code § 17200, et seq.;

24 (b) Pursuant to Business & Professions Code § 17204, enjoin Defendants, and 25 each of them, from continuing to engage in the acts as set forth in this Complaint,
26
27
28

1 which acts constitute violations of Business & Professions Code § 17200 et seq.

2 Plaintiff will be irreparably harmed if such an order is not granted; and

4 (c) Award such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

7 (Against All Hacking Defendants)

8 80. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
9 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 10 allegations.
11

12 81. As alleged in detail herein, Plaintiff owned the privileged and 13 confidential information and data relating to his workers compensation claim.
14

15 82. Defendants intentionally and substantially interfered with Plaintiff's
16 property by unlawfully accessing and downloading copies of that data.
17

18 83. Plaintiff did not consent to Defendants' activity, as alleged herein.

19 84. Plaintiff was injured as a result of Defendants' unlawful conversion in 20 an amount to be proven at trial.
21

22 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

23 (a) Award compensatory general and special damages pursuant to Cal. Civ.
24 Code § 3336;
25

26 (b) Award Plaintiff's costs and fees, including attorney's fees, in bringing this 27 action; and
28

1 (c) Award such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

2 COUNT EIGHT

3 (Negligence)

4 (Against HQSU)

6 85. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing
7 paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the 8 allegations.

10 86. Defendant HQSU owed a duty to Plaintiff to exercise reasonable care in 11 obtaining, securing, safeguarding, and protecting Plaintiff's confidential and 12 privileged information in its possession and to prevent it from being compromised, 13 accessed, stolen, and used by unauthorized persons.

15 87. This duty included, among other things, designing and maintaining a 16 security system that ensured Plaintiff's data was adequately secured and protected.
17 HQSU further owed Plaintiff a duty to implement processes that detected breaches of 18 its security system in a timely manner and to timely act upon security breaches,
19 including notifying Plaintiff that his private data had been compromised.

22 88. HQSU owe Plaintiff a duty of care to because Plaintiff was a 23 foreseeable and probable victim of any inadequate security practices. HQSU knew or 24 should have known it had inadequately safeguarded its network, yet failed to take 25 reasonable precautions against security breaches.

26
27 89. HQSU owed a duty to timely and accurately disclose to Plaintiff its 28

1 computer server had been or reasonably believed to have been compromised. Timely
2 disclosure was required, appropriate and necessary so that, among other things,
4 Plaintiff could take appropriate measures to avoid identity theft or fraud.

5 90. Plaintiff relied on and entrusted HQSU with confidential, private, and 6 privileged information, and HQSU was in a position to prevent unlawful access to
8 that data through the use of adequate and responsible security measures.

9 91. HQSU had a duty to take reasonable measures to protect and safeguard
10 Plaintiff's data.

11 92. HQSU breached that duty by negligently, grossly negligently, and 12 wantonly failing to take reasonable and adequate measure to secure and safeguard
13 Plaintiff's confidential information, and then by failing to inform Plaintiff when it 14
15 became aware that the information had been compromised.

16 93. Plaintiff suffered and continues to suffer harm has a direct and 17 proximate result of HQSU's negligence and gross negligence.
18

19 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:
20

21 (a) Award Plaintiff compensatory general and special damages;

22 (b) Award Plaintiff punitive damages as a result of HQSU's gross negligence
23 and wanton conduct;

24 (c) Award Plaintiff's costs and fees, including attorney's fees, in bringing this 25
26 action; and

27 (d) Award such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

COUNT NINE

(Violation of California Confidentiality of Medical Information Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 56, et seq.)

(Against HQSU)

94. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the allegations.

95. California Civil Code § 56, et seq., known as the Confidentiality of Medical Information Act (“Medical Information Act”), requires companies which Receive medical information to establish appropriate procedures to ensure the Confidentiality and protection from unauthorized use and disclosure of that information.

96. At all relevant times, HQSU had a legal duty to protect the confidentiality of Plaintiff’s confidential and privileged information, which included medical information.

97. By failing to ensure adequate security systems were in place to Prevent access and disclosure of Plaintiff’s private medical information without written authorization, HQSU violated the Medical Information Act and its legal duty to protect the confidentiality of such information.

98. Pursuant to Cal. Civ. Code § 56.36, Plaintiff is entitled to nominal damages and statutory damages of $1,000, as well as Plaintiff’s actual damages as proven at trial.

COUNT TEN
(Violation of California Data Security and Breach Notification Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.80, et seq.)

(Against HQSU)

99. Plaintiff incorporates each and every allegation of the foregoing paragraphs as if fully set forth herein, and specifically repeats and re-alleges the allegations.

100. The California Data Security and Breach Notification Act, Cal. Civ. Code § 1798.80, et seq. (the “Data Security Act”) provided, at the time relevant to the acts and omissions in this Complaint, that businesses which hold private and confidential information of California residents must implement and maintain reasonable security measures to protect personal data about those residents. Id., § 1798.81.5.

101. The personal information protected by the Data Security Act includes a resident’s first name or initial and last name, in combination with one or more of the following: (i) social security number; (ii) driver’s license; (iii) account number,

1 credit or debit card number in combination with any required security code, access
2 code or password that would permit access to an individual's financial account; or
4 (iv) medical information – i.e., individually identifiable information about an
5 individual's medial history, medical treatment or diagnosis by a health care
6 professional.

8 102. In addition to requiring adequate security measures, the Act also 9 requires that the affected resident be notified in the event of a data security breach.

10 103. HQSU violated each of these provisions by failing to provide adequate
11 security measures and failing to notify Plaintiff after learning that HQSU's system
12 had been breached and Plaintiff's confidential information had been compromised.

13 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully requests that this Court:

- 14
15 (a) Award Plaintiff nominal and statutory damages of $1000.00;
16
17 (b) Award Plaintiff compensatory damages for actual harm suffered;
18
19 (c) Award Plaintiff's costs and fees, including attorney's fees, in bringing this 20 action; and
21
22 (d) Award such other and further relief as the Court deems just and proper.

23 CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

24 104. Plaintiff brings this action pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 25 23 on behalf of himself and the classes preliminarily defined as:

and downloaded by Defendants.

106. Excluded from the proposed classes are anyone employed by counsel for Plaintiff in this action and any Judge to whom this case is assigned, as well as his or her staff and immediate family.

107. Plaintiff satisfies the numerosity, commonality, typicality, and adequacy prerequisites for suing as a representative party pursuant to Rule 23.

108. Numerosity. The proposed class consists of thousands of persons nationwide whose legal files were unlawfully and without authorization accessed and downloaded by Defendants, including between 3000 to 5000 former and current clients of Reyes & Barsoum, as well as tens of thousands of other individuals, who had their data stolen by defendants' conduct as described above, making joinder of each individual class member impracticable.

109. Commonality. Common questions of law and fact exist for the proposed class' claims and predominate over questions affecting only individual class members. Common questions include:

- a. Whether defendants violated the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act, 18 U.S.C. §§1030 et seq.;
- b. Whether defendants violated the Unlawful Access to Stored Communications Act, 18 U.S.C. §§2701 et seq.;
- c. Whether defendants violated the California Business and Professions Code

1 §§17200, et seq.;

2 d. Whether defendants violated the California Computer Data Access and
3 Fraud Act, California Penal Code §§502, et seq.;

4 e. Whether defendants invaded the privacy of the class members;

5 f. Whether defendants intentionally interfered with the class members'
6 prospective economic advantages.

9 110. Typicality. Plaintiff's claims are typical of the claims of the proposed 10 classes because, among other things, Plaintiff and class members sustained similar 11 injuries as a result of defendants' wrongful conduct and their legal claims all arise
12 from the intentional and illegal cyberattack on their legal files.
13

14 111. Adequacy. Plaintiff will fairly and adequately protect the interests of 15 the classes. His interests do not conflict with class members' interests and he has 16 retained counsel experienced in complex class action and data privacy litigation to 17 vigorously prosecute this action on behalf of the classes.
18

20 112. In addition to satisfying the prerequisites of Rule 23(a), Plaintiff
21 satisfies the requirements for maintaining a class action under Rule 23(b)(3).
22 Common questions of law and fact predominate over any questions affecting only 23 individual class members and a class action is superior to individual litigation. The 24 amount of damages available to individual plaintiffs is insufficient to make litigation
25 addressing defendants' conduct economically feasible in the absence of the class
26 action procedure. Individualized litigation also presents a potential for inconsistent or contradictory judgments, and increases the delay and expense to all parties and the court system presented by the legal and factual issues of the case. By contrast, the class action device presents far fewer management difficulties and provides the benefits of a single adjudication, economy of scale, and comprehensive supervision by a single court.

113. In addition, class certification is appropriate under Rule 23(b)(1) or (b)(2) because:

a. The prosecution of separate actions by the individual members of the proposed classes would create a risk of inconsistent or varying adjudication which would establish incompatible standards of conduct for defendants;

b. The prosecution of separate actions by individual class members would create a risk of adjudications with respect to them which would, as a practical matter, be dispositive of the interests of other class members not parties to the adjudications, or substantially impair or impede their ability to protect their interests; and

c. Defendants have acted or have refused to act on grounds that apply generally to the proposed class, thereby making final injunctive relief described herein appropriate with respect to the proposed class as a whole.

PRAYER FOR RELIEF

(On All Causes of Action)

WHEREFORE, Plaintiff prays that the Court:

1 1. Certify a nationwide class of Plaintiffs affected and injured by Defendants’
2 unlawful conduct as alleged herein;

4 2. Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against the Defendants.

5 3. Declare that Defendants’ conduct has been willful and that Defendants have 6 acted with fraud, malice and oppression.

8 4. Enter a preliminary and permanent injunction enjoining Defendants and 9 their officers, directors, principals, agents, servants, employees, successors, and 10 assigns, and all persons and entities in active concert or participation with them, from 11 engaging in any of the activity complained of herein or from causing any of the 12 injury complained of herein and from assisting, aiding or abetting any other person 13 or business entity in engaging in or performing any of the activity complained of 14 herein or from causing any of the injury complained of herein.

16 5. Enter a preliminary and permanent injunction prohibiting Defendants from 17 accessing, downloading, or otherwise using any data or information from HQSU’s
18 computer systems or any other system housing Plaintiff’s privileged and confidential
19 material.

21 6. Enter judgment awarding Plaintiff actual damages from Defendants
22 adequate to compensate Plaintiff for Defendants’ activity complained of herein and 23 for any injury complained of herein, including but not limited to interest and costs, in 24 an amount to be proven at trial.

26 7. Enter judgment in favor of Plaintiff disgorging Defendants’ profits.
